1982 INDIANHEAD

VOLUME 37

MICHAEL MARLER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

A student publication of Pembroke State University, Pembroke, NC.

The soaps . . . some people snicker and dismiss them as meaningless and worthless, while others watch them day after day, carrying the characters and situations with them as if they were significant parts of their lives.

For better or worse, it is nevertheless clear that soap operas have established themselves as a part of today's culture. The difference between the real world and the world of the soaps is becoming increasingly blurred, and it was with this in mind that Indianhead 1982 decided to relate the 1981-1982 year at Pembroke State University to the world of soap opera.

On the tube this year PSU students saw Luke and Laura's wedding, a strangler loose in Salem, and Erikka Cain become the new American Beauty. On campus they saw a new bell tower, a boycott of the cafeteria, and the revoking of the charter of the TKE fraternity. As you turn the following pages, you will encounter the continuing story of PSU, brought to you by the Indianhead staff and starring the many and varied personalities of the University.

As the world turns I sit on the edge of night searching in texas for all my children, wondering if they will be found in general hoospital in need of the doctors. I soon find them in another world in a seerch for tomorrow. They feel no need for a guiding llight. They only cry, "We need to live the days of our lives." I understand that they are the young and the restless and have only one life to live, so I'll let them — What can I say? My life is a soap!

Our lives and soap operas are one in the same. We are their content; they are our lives. By swallowing us into their themes, they mix us until our individualities become indistinguishable in a world of hope, dreams, and ideas. We, as individuals of P.S.U., provide the components of many soap operas as we unite into a never ending world made of realistic dreams. However, since our lives at P.S.U. are only temporary, we find that one day it becomes a must to divide and take separate paths on a search for tomorrow.

Being as one, both lives and soap operas promote attachment to others. The lives of others are separate but yet continuous with our own. Every individual or group is separate but yet is of one. The doctors, clubs, fraternities, and sororities of P.S.U. are distinct but yet attached by togetherness in our own conglomerate of soap operas. Not only is there attachment to the ones we love but also to those whom we dislike. A favorite friend, a loving roommate, or a caring professor promotes attraction while a rival sorority, an inconsiderate roommate, or an unfavorable professor motivates dislike; however, they are all a part of the days of our lives. Life with others at P.S.U. reveals their innermost feelings, letting us understand what makes them tick in almost a hundred different situations.

As can be said of lives, soap operas offer us wish-fulfillment. Our desires to achieve, to win, and to progress are the guiding light to happiness. However by filling us with too much happiness, these desires are sometimes impeded by life's obstacles, causing us to stumble into a time of disappointment, a time which could mean test failures, exam period, or lost games. Whatever the case may be, it is soon forgotten as we, the young and the restless, proceed to the next scenes of life, being thankful for our well-learned lesson.

Life, like soap operas, always has one's favorite setting, or not-so-favorite setting. Many of these settings are visited in the day; others at the edge of night. Favorite settings of the Braves, either day or night, include the gym, the student center, the library, and the girls' dorm; their unfavorable settings at any time include the infirmary, the cafeteria, and the classrooms. Each place is taken in stride as a part of life, for we realize that in order to achieve we must take the bad with the good. However, by realizing that the good is always preferred over the bad, the student body of P.S.U. always emphasizes the idea of one life to live as they celebrate at Greek parties, victory celebrations, and discos.

CITATIONS

On her desk is a small plaque that reads, "I believe in the sun even when it is not shining. I believe in love even when I do not feel it. I believe in God even when he is silent."

Those lines, composed by a California minister, exemplify the love, faith and understanding that have endeared Professor I. Ruth Martin to her students throughout her teaching career. In a show of appreciation, Pembroke State University students have selected Prof. Martin to receive the 1981-82 Indianhead Faculty Citation.

A member of the Philosophy & Religion Department, Martin began her teaching career at Judson College in Alabama. From there she went to Hampton Institute (Va.) before coming to Pembroke State in 1953.

She has seen her department grow from humble beginnings. "When I first came to Pembroke, there were only three religion courses being taught," remembered Martin. "Ralph D. Wellons, who was president of the school at that time, was teaching philosophy, and all those courses were given in Old Main."

The building got real hot when the weather outside was warm, and students used to rush out of the building when classes were dismissed."

Martin has begun teaching the children and grandchildren of some of her first students at Pembroke. It seems likely that her voice will be heard by PSU students for years to come.

I. Ruth Martin

Her office is a small one tucked away in a corner of North Hall near one of the side entrances.

There isn't a sign on the door with her name on it and the desk she uses is beginning to show its age. The room is comfortable, however, and the smile Faye Jones has for everyone who enters is enough to lift even the lowest spirits.

Almost every student who comes into North Hall by way of the door in front of her office either waves and says hello or stops in for a chat with Jones, selected by Pembroke State University students to receive the 1981-82 Indianhead Staff Citation.

Jones went to work at the Education Center at Ft. Bragg in 1964. "It was while I was there that I heard of plans to establish the position of Associate Dean of Student Affairs here at Pembroke State," says Jones, "and I applied for the job."

Her move to Pembroke came a year earlier than she had expected.

Jones assumed her present position the following year, and says she has never regretted it. "I enjoy my job so much. A lot of what I do here was necessary in my previous work."

It is that concern for students that has endeared her to so many over the years.

IN MEMORIAM

Dr. English E. Jones (10/22/21-5/18/81)

Dr. and Mrs. Jones

Dr. English E. Jones, Chancellor Emeritus of Pembroke State University, passed away on May 18, 1981.

Dr. Jones had been retired for almost two years after serving as president and then chancellor of P.S.U. for 17 years. During these years the college became a university and joined the 16-campus system of the University of North Carolina. Enrollment climbed from 570 to 2,158 and a cooperative graduate program in education was developed.

In 1973, the P.S.U. board of Trustees honored Dr. Jones by naming the new $2.5 million

Health and Physical Education Center in his name. President William C. Friday of the University of North Carolina system said, "English Jones served the University with uncommon devotion, great energy, and with total personal commitment. His good humor and his joyful life were contagious. He was always inspiring, always helpful, and he shared his friendship with thousands of us. We shall greatly miss this good colleague and friend." Many 1982 graduates will remember observing Dr. Jones' vitality and sincerity when they first came to the campus as freshmen.

Dr. Walter L. Weisberg (3/31/41-5/25/81)

Dr. Walter Leonard Weisberg died during the summer of 1981. His willingness to work with students, his friendliness, and his vigils from the balcony of the Classroom North Building will long be remembered. In 1975 Dr. Weisberg was appointed to a faculty position here at Pembroke State University. Dr. Weisberg became an Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science. Both his students and his colleagues appreciated his dedication to teaching and to the P.S.U. community.

A $3,000 memorial Scholarship in Political Science has been established in his name. The money was contributed by his brother, Victor M. Weisberg of Forest Hills, N.Y. An additional amount was given by Mrs. Irma Swartz, a friend of the family. Dr. Weisberg's parents, Anne and Jacob Weisberg of New York City, established the scholarship. Chancellor Paul Givens commented, "This will be a fitting memorial to Walter, who gave so freely of his time and talent to students."

TO START THE YEAR

The end of the summer is a sad time — a time to leave the salt filled air of the beaches and the pine scent of the mountains and return to the halls of education. But as we come back to continue our learning, we begin to realize that the end of summer really isn't so bad after all. For with this ending comes a new beginning, and this beginning means the start of new friendships and experiences. As we rekindle old friendships, we soon see that our sadness turns to joy — the joy of beginning another year at PSU.

Hamburgers and baked beans were the main attraction at the cook-out.

"I HAVE A GOAL" tee-shirts were given away at orientation.

FACELIFTS

Off with the old and on with the new. This seems exactly what PSU is doing. The many changes that the campus has acquired during the last year have not only improved its appearance, but have also made the students proud of it. The changes that are most noticeable include the bell tower, the remodeled Moore Hall, the news bulletin board in front of the student center, paved walkways to the science building, and title signs for each building. These and other changes are only a few of the facelifts which PSU is undergoing.

The new bulletin boards inform students of upcoming events.

...e haven for the tired, the hungry, and the bored.

The new addition behind the Oxendine Science Building should add to PSU's beauty.

Moore Hall has a new look both inside and out.

WORLD OF LEARNING

When you want to see the serious side of PSU students, where do you go? Go to the classrooms, of course. It is there that intelligent minds are molded, geniuses are discovered, and sleepy students are most often awakened.

In the CMA library two students prepare a project for their Oral Language class while Dr. Sigmon tutors a student on subject-verb agreement.

GORDON'S PLACE

The main place of business on PSU's campus is the cafeteria. Although the cafeteria has received criticism, including a boycott, like any other place of business, it is constantly striving to supply its students and customers with friendly service, a clean environment, and a variety of healthful and appetizing meals. Even though the cafeteria's serving hours and prompt service are for the convenience of students, it seems that there is always one disapproval — long waiting lines.

No talking: just a lot of eating.

Do we really have to pay for this stuff?

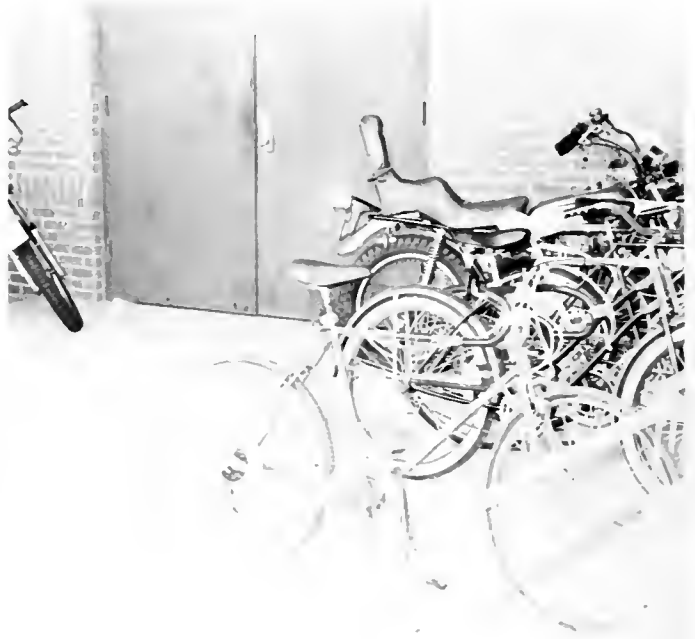

It's obvious they're not excited about the food served here.

What's wrong, Brenda? Did it move?

COMMUTERISM AT PSU

Where do the commuters hang out? All around campus obviously. These off-campus students seem to feel more at home on the PSU campus than some of the students living here. Wherever you look, there is something which shows signs of COMMUTERISM!

Commuters aren't restricted to cars alone.

Obviously these students didn't read the sign.

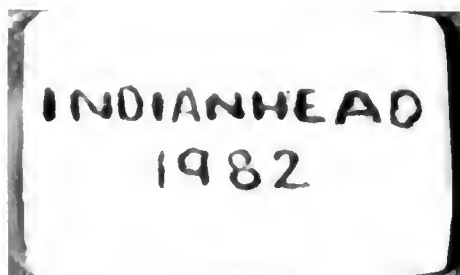

These students can't read either!

Another busy day begins.

CHANCELLOR GIVENS

"The goal of Pembroke State University is to help students gain the momentum for continuous life-long self-education," says PSU Chancellor Paul R. Givens. Currently in his third year as Chancellor, Dr. Givens has high hopes for Pembroke's future. With the help of faculty members, the Administration developed a long-range five-year plan for the University's advancement in the areas of curricula, continuing education, and student life. The Chancellor's Scholars Program, a revision of the old Honors Program, began this year with twenty-five students. Dr.

Givens plans to add an additional twenty-five students each year. Apparently Dr. Givens enjoys life here at PSU. When asked how he liked living on campus, he replied, "I don't mind living in a fish bowl as long as no one poisons the water."

GUIDING LIGHT

AMERICAN INDIAN STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Housed on the second floor of Old Main and offering a program on the history of Indians and the Indians of today, the American Indian Studies Department is conveying its knowledge not only to interested Indians but also to non-Indians. Although the department offers only a minor at this time, its chairman, Professor Adolph Dial feels enthusiastic that a major may be acquired by the fall semester of 1982. Furthermore, by involving seven persons in the department and by offering fifty-seven semester hours of courses, it seems that P.S.U.'s AIS department is becoming the leading department in Indian Studies east of the Mississippi.

ART DEPARTMENT

Paul Van Zandt — Chairman, Katherine Paaco, Bonnie Deutsch, Ralph Steeds

One project for this year's Art Department, announced by Chairman Dr. Paul Van Zandt, was a Chairman's Invitational Exhibition of Women's Art. They also finished two trips, one of which was to the Gem Mines of Franklin, N.C., where the jewelry class went to mine their own gems. Eleven members of the Art History Class went to Washington, D.C., to the museums. They also planned a trip to New York for the spring Semester and an Art League Christmas "Show and Sell" on December 2, a Festival of the Arts on April 3, and in March a workshop and exhibition of high school students' art works.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Gerald Blekely, Wes Werd, Hazel Coates, Robert Maynor, Magnolia Griffith, Barry O'Brien — Acting Chairman, Ollie Bishop.

The Business Department has been increasing in not only its number of majors but also in its number of faculty. The projects which the business department is undertaking are worthwhile not only to the students but also to the community. Department Chairman Michael O'Brien feels that as the graduates leave this department they are landing better high-paying jobs than before.

CMA DEPARTMENT

The Communicative Arts Department has eighteen members on its staff. Many new courses have been added, including CMA 282 — Yearbook Production. Mr. Richard Vela, who returns from Graduate Studies, and Dr. David Eliades have combined to reinstate CMA/HST 378 — The American West. A Special English class was also taught for foreign students this year.

The CMA Department also holds classes in the PAC building where drama and speech are at their finest.

GEOLOGY/GEOGRAPHY DEPARTMENT

This year the Geology/Geography Department plans to participate in the Pembroke State regional science fair, which is scheduled for early April.

They are ordering a sketch-master projector which will be beneficial to the entire school in that it enlarges or reduces the size of maps and photographs. They are also purchasing topographic maps which illustrate elevations, slopes, vegetation, and cultural features of the state of N.C. The cartography course teaches the design of maps. Those that have taken the course have had exceptional job opportunities.

The Physical Education Department at PSU is growing more and more every year. The department is expanding to include a minor in Physical Education and a minor in Recreation. They will be offering a new B.S. degree in Health & Physical Education & Recreation/Administration. The department also offers B.S. degrees in health and P.E. with or without teacher certification as well as a minor in athletic coaching. The Jones Health and Physical Education Center houses the department and includes two gyms, classrooms, a pool, weightroom and sauna. All in all, the P.E. Department is on the move.

Shirley Deese, History secretary

David Eliades lectures in History.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

The History Department began the new academic year with several projects designed to ease the transition from high school to college, provide alumni with information regarding activities within the department, and revitalize the History Club. A pre-college counseling program designed for high school and community college students helped to "build a bridge between their students and ours," according to department head Dr. John Chay. The Alumni Newsletter was revised to include questionnaires and maintain closer ties with graduates. On November 5, 1981 sixteen history students traveled to Washington, D.C., for an informative field trip.

All in all, the PSU History Department has continued to be one of the most active areas on campus.

Front Row: Loren Butler, Paul Freiwirth, John Chay — Chairman, Robert Brown. Back Row: Jerome McDuffie, William Bullard, William Turner, David Eliades.

The Mary Livermore Library provides students with the most modern of research facilities. Its atmosphere and friendly personnel make it the perfect place to study. Typing rooms provide one with a place to finish up reports or just a place to study alone. Separate booths also give students needed seclusion for study purposes. The daily papers from many areas and a periodical room are also important parts of the PSU Library.

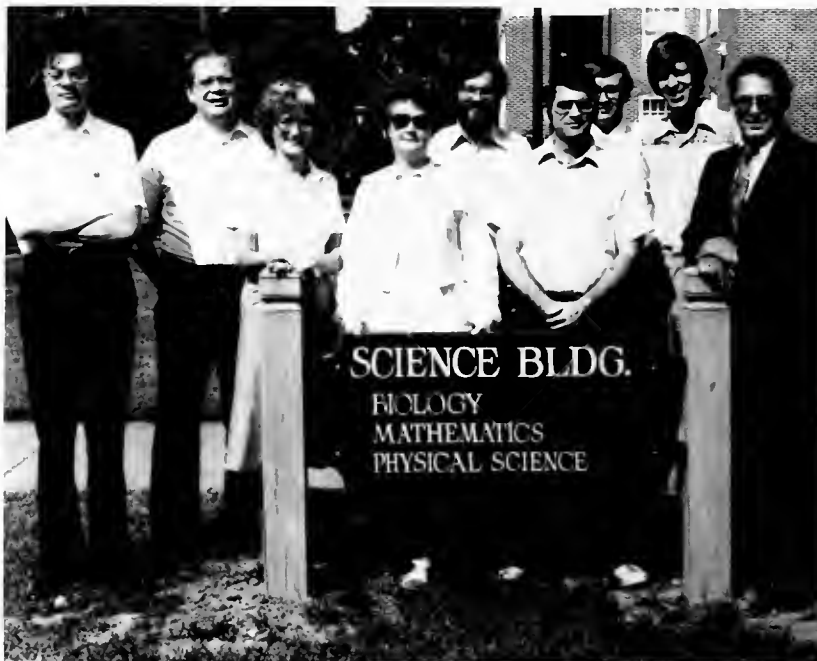

Miss Evens assists a student in the use of a microfiche machine.

Walter Musgrove pedals about campus.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

This year the Math Department, headed by Charles Bass, employs eight full time professors. According to Dr. Bass, the goal of the department is to convey an outlook on the many varieties of mathematics. They offer majors in Mathematics and Computer Science. The Computer Science division purchased the Apple II Plus Computer in the spring of '81.

Rhodes Peele, Stevan Pax, Mary Jo Wilson, Mary Hendrix — secretary, Laird Prussner, Joseph Goldston, Bill Truman, Charles Bass — chairman, Gilbert Sampson.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Sitting: Robert Romine — chairman, Elma Ransom, Harold Siegle. Standing: Lyn Micheletti, Charles Mercovich, Jon Meisonplarris, George Walter.

The Music Department at PSU includes seven full and two part time professors. Various activities of the department include workshops, the Choral Festival, a Christmas Concert and a Singers and Swingers Tour. The Music Department is a leader in individual and private study as they offer courses in all areas of musical interest. After the Renovation of Moore Hall the music department has returned to the structure and they continue to flourish as more and more students continue to choose PSU for musical study.

PHILOSOPHY/RELIGION DEPARTMENT

Although the Philosophy/Religion Department added no new class this year, they remained one of the most active departments on campus. They sponsored many lectures including James Charlesworth and Dr. William Bennett. Mr.

Charlesworth spoke on new findings in the Middle East while Dr.

Bennett gave a lecture on Ethics. Dr.

Stanley was also scheduled to give a debate series.

Another lecture series scheduled was on Role Models for Women.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Harold Taagus, Andrew Ransom, John Reisenner, Pete Wish, John Wellingford — Chairman, Jose D'Arruda.

Although the Physical Science Department has not added any new staff this year, there are still plenty of old faculty members around. Added to the curriculum this year is a new course which is called Organic and Biological Chemistry which will be taught by Dr. Teague. Labs are bursting with excitement that will exercise every student's brain.

Dr. Wish points out important issues in Physical Science.

Linda Oxandine, Physical Science secretary

POLITICAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The year 1981-82 has been lively with numerous new political developments, ranging from the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to Reaganomics to the Polish Solidarity. The Political Science department covered it all with courses such as Introduction to Political Science and History of the U.S. Foreign Policy in the Twentieth Century. Also the department introduced this year a new staff member, Dr. Gary Rassel. Dr. Rassel earned his PhD. from Michigan State University and has previously taught at N.C.S.U.

PSYCHOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Michael Strettil, Alvin Jones, Kathryn Rileigh — Chairmen, Wright Killian

The Psychology Department employs five full time professors and they are all working together to produce a new design to improve the department. They are working with the Philosophy/Religion Department on the Danforth Series, a series of lectures about Women in Professions. Their new classes this year include Current Topic Seminars and Human Sexuality.

Connie Oxendine, Sociology secretary

Dr. Layne prepares for a lecture

SOCIOLOGY DEPARTMENT

The Sociology Department has a very interesting project going on. They have a one day social every Friday. The students contribute various types of foods. The Sociology Department, which is housed on the second floor of the Business building, contains four clubs: Criminal Justice Club, Social Work Club, Applied Sociology Club, and the Sociology Honor Club which is designed for people who have a 3.0 average with a Sociology major. The new staff member is Dr. Frank Longo. He is a temporary replacement for Mr. Steve Merson. Dr. Longo taught at Ohio State University and retired a professor emeritus.

Sitting: Norman Layne, Von Locklear, Frank Schmallegger — chairman, John Bowman, Eleanor Blakely, Barney Pauze. Standing: Frank Longo.

Second Row: Michael Deese, Ervin Locklear, Lori Hood, Priscilla Gardner, Janet Beard, Preezie Cannon, Susan Packer, Kim Locklear, Larry Clubine, Susan Parrish, Linda Collins, Alfreda Jones, Lee Carter. Back Row: Dr. Charles Jenkins, Dr. Kathryn Sullivan, Dr. John Reissner, Chancellor Paul Givens, Dr. Robert Brown, Dr. Kathryn Raleigh, Dr. Rudy Williams.

Pembroke State University established a Chancellor's Scholar Program this year to recognize academic excellence among selected freshmen and upper classmen. Taking part in the program allows these students to pursue academic interests outside the usual classroom atmosphere. Scholarships are available, and participation is noted in the student's academic files, and upon graduation the student is designated a Chancellor's Scholar.

COLLEGE OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM

Located in the Business Administration Building, the COP has been in operation for four years. It includes a five week program in summer school with students taking two courses. Then in the fall they sign up for twelve hours plus one COP course. During their first year the students are under close supervision and meet with their advisor once a week. The COP is making it possible for more students to get a college education.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Special Services offer tutors to students who desire help in a particular course. They provide counseling for students and they assist with filling out FAF and Veterans Aid Forms. They also help the student who wishes to transfer by gathering information on the school where he wishes to attend.

A life somewhat different, but somehow similar to the one we experienced as a child, is the campus life that we become familiar with as independent adults. MY CHILDREN

NORTH DORM

A lobby that's full, day in and day out. With five floors of fun, that will make you shout. They have a mother who's
the best in the game.
She's warm and she's friendly. Ms. Locklear's her name. On them you can find a smile of good cheer. That will probably last you through the year. With KD's on six and
Tri-Sigmas on three,
North Hall is certainly the place to be.

You wanna play?

Some North Dorm residents enjoy a peaceful evening at home...

...while others live it up!

WELLONS DORM

Wellons is an interesting square, where strange things happen, so please beware. From getting arrested for buying a coke, to pouring acid on cars, which was only a joke. From playing ping-pong at a late midnight hour, to sobering up a friend with an icy shower. This and more, we all have a ball, So come on over to Wellons Hall.

Relaxing after a soccer match.

Hurry up and throw the ball!

I'll drink to that, I'll drink to anything!

Here's to pledge Julie . . . so drink chug-a-lug!

WEST DORM

Shaped like a horseshoe and three stories tall, parties and music always fill the hall. Some say we're crazy and some say we're wild. But actually, we're all sort of mild. We're a lot better off than most people say, 'cause we're behind the girls, see it our way. Our dorm is great, it's surely the best, so if you want lots of fun, come over to West.

ZETA'S occupy all of sixth floor, they can party all night and
come back for more.
The elevator breaks
down once in a while,
and they sometimes
have to walk damn near a mile. Their very presence will
brighten your day,
the ladies of Belk are all here to stay.

JACOBS DORM

Listen closely and you shall here,
The raising hell as it draws near,
The washers and dryers that never do work,
The Coke machine that's gone berserk,
The cries and shrills of ladies at night,
The utter chaos when a party's in sight,
True, this may sound a bit off the wall,
But it all goes on at Jacobs Hall.

THE PLACE TO BE

Available not only for playing pool, space games, or the juke box, the Student Center also serves as a place for socializing between classes. Also there is a snack bar called the Wagon Wheel which is thoroughly utilized by on-campus students, commuters, and professors. Another part of the student center is the book store which is easily recognizable at the beginning of the semester by long lines. Also, the post office is housed in the right wing of the student center. Even though this is a place of much activity during the day, it is turned into discos and live bands at night.

You girls sure you want to eat in here?

Maintenance men need a break, too

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's PAC-MAN!!

MACHINES IN USE

Upon entering the student center, one may be puzzled about whether or not he has come upon an arcade.

There are games everywhere for the students' enjoyment. Because no two games are alike, it gives the students a choice. Nevertheless, all of the games are fun and exciting.

Not only are student center machines popular, but there are also snack machines, drink machines, and cigarette machines which are attacked at that urgent moment. And let's not forget our machines of necessity. These include washers and dryers and the good old faithful change machine. One other machine that shouldn't be overlooked is the photo-copier in the library. Now, this is the easiest way to copy.

"Boy, I hope this machine doesn't take my money again!"

Mike and Ricky should pay this much attention to their classes.

Through rain, snow, sleet, and hail, these machines will always sell ... or at least take your money!

"Listen, Machine, you better give me my change or sleet!"

RAIN, RAIN,

The rain in Spain may fall mainly in the plain, but here at P.S.U. it falls everywhere. We have been fortunate this year, though, because we haven't had that much rain. When it does rain, it comes quickly and sometimes stays for days. But we are prepared. When the showers attack, suddenly one might see bunches of umbrellas, multi-colored slickers, and even duck shoes.

After the rain many puddles linger for days.

When a sudden outburst of rain comes, students use the first thing they find to shelter them.

An umbrella helps when walking from building to building in the rain.

GO AWAY

Our dedicated maintenance men even work in the rain.

Or at least after it stops.

Watch your step; the first one is muddy.

PSU TRICK OR TREATERS

This is called the Monster Mash.

Pressie tried to snap up her broom, but forgot how.

Welcome to the Art League Halloween Party

The unknown comica go west.

The time for ghosts and goblins, witches and Draculas and tricks and treats was very exciting at PSU. This feeling of spookiness was sent from person to person as a couple of clubs participated in the sale of BOO*A*GRAMS days prior to Halloween. On the night of halloween, a dance was sponsored in the student center by the Art League. A costume was required for entry. Many of the students took the opportunity to give someone a scare.

PSU'S GENERAL HOSPITAL

Beware of these two girls; they are dangerous.

Although most of the students come in contact with the campus infirmary at a bad time, it is here for the use of everyone. The 22-bed infirmary operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. With a registered nurse to assist the physician, one can also find five assistant nurses and one nurse assistant. Many students may find the infirmary the least popular place on campus but in a time of crisis, it becomes the most popular.

Basketball was extremely successful.

Men in Jacobs Hall prepare for horseshoes

SPORTS

Intramurals are a vital part of social life on campus. They promote unity among students as well as a feeling of accomplishment found only in competition. Events include football, soccer, basketball, arm wrestling, volleyball, frisbee, and many others. This year the program has added a ladies' division and offers competition in the same areas as the men's. Intramurals — part of the social backbone of PSU.

Soccer was a big intramural activity ...

... as was football

... and more football!

SCENIC PSU

The PSU campus is blessed with many wonderful sights. From the Bell Tower to the PAC building PSU provides one with beauty and pleasure. Its many shaded areas provide plenty of comfort during hot weather as well as add to the campus' already existing beauty. All these together provide the campus with scenic enhancement and add to the special feeling of closeness found only at PSU.

WEEKENDS

Weekends at PSU are just like weekends on any other small town University Campus — BORING. Everyone goes home. The only people left are the ones who live too far away to go home every weekend. However, an occasional party or sporting event serves to liven up even the most dull day. Weekend nightlife includes wondering why Mr. Roark never gets his suit dirty or why people on the Love Boat don't get sick. The excitement really starts on Sunday after the afternoon meal when everyone realizes that they don't have to eat the Cafeteria's food that evening. All in all, it makes for very exciting (Yawn!) weekend life.

Long ago at a small town University...

... everyone went home for the weekends...

... one lamp post, one car, and one lonely sidewalk.

WALL-TO-WALL BOOKS

Serving a purpose for research or study, the library also offers a variety of other activities. Many students find the spacious and pleasant atmosphere favorable for catching up on the latest news, for flipping through magazines in the periodical room, and for manipulating computers in the computer center. Furthermore, the library's convenient hours within its many other services provide the students and faculty a lot for free.

Waiting for the computer terminals can be an all-afternoon affair.

LYCEUM SERIES

The Green Grass Cloggers

The Lyceum Series at Pembroke State University has for numerous years provided great cultural entertainment for the student body as well as the community. "This year was no exception," said Felicia Turner, Cultural Events Coordinator for the series. This year was just packed with great entertainment.

Listed on this year's agenda were the Maynard Ferguson Jazz Band, The Green Grass Cloggers and the National Players.

CABARET

February brought the musical Cabaret to the P.S.U. stage. Featuring Francy Adler as Sally Bowles, Tony Oakley as the Emcee, Nina Acosta as Fraulein Kost, Chuck Kinlaw as Ernst Ludwig, and Gary Lamb as Clifford Bradshaw, the show portrayed pre-world War II Germany just before Hitler assumed power. While light musical numbers like "Two Ladies" and "The Money Song" proved enjoyable, they also served to heighten the essentially dark mood of the play. The presentation, directed by Dr. Chet Jordan, was well received.

A THURBER CARNIVAL

Musical comedy, uniquely incorporating a live stageband with a series of humorous cartoon sketches was a first for the Pembroke Players production of A THURBER CARNIVAL on October 8, 9, and 10. The theme that was carried throughout the play was the conflict between men and women. This was characterized by sketches such as "Unicorn in the Garden" whose moral was "Don't count your boobies before they're hatched," and a favorite overall sketch was the "Secret Life of Walter Mitty." The high point, a most serious sketch, was "The Last Flower," which was an analysis of the total cycle of humanity.

Henrik Ibsen's A Doll's House, a drama about the life of Nora and Torvald Helmer in nineteenth-century Norway, was presented by the Pembroke Players in December. Sharon McHale played Nora and Dan Grundy played Torvald in this early examination of the problem of women's rights. Directed by Enoch Morris, the play received many commendations, including positive comments about the Victorian set. A Friday matinee was presented, in addition to the regular three-evening run.

MISS PSU PAGEANT

Like years in the past, the Miss PSU Pageant packed the PAC auditorium. With Master and Mistress of ceremonies being David Yandel and Jackie Jacobs, the pageant was a smashing success. All 17 contestants came out on stage and introduced themselves and proudly told their sponsor. Talent ranged from dancing and singing to playing an instrument and all the girls were great. Entertainment also came from past Miss PSU's and last year's Miss Congeniality. And then came that magic moment when Francy Adler was announced as Miss PSU 1982. A perfect ending to a perfect evening.

Ms. Homecoming 1982, Rita Womack, escorted by Ben Major

The week of February 8th proved to be very exciting for the entire PSU campus. This week was designated as homecoming, a time of various activities aimed at unifying the entire student body. To get things started off right, the movie "Stripes" was shown in Moore Hall. Not a seat was left vacant, and it wasn't hard for the viewers to get into the mood of the film. Tuesday night got the campus out, on their toes, and dancing to the beat of "Sound Approach." The music and light show, a favorite here at Pembroke, was run by former business department graduate Jimmy Abdalla.

Wednesday night another disco was held in the Student Center featuring the band "Liquid Pleasure." The following night was filled with activities as the BSD sponsored a dance at the Cameo Club in Lumberton, the movie "Flash Gordon" was shown on campus, and Phi Mu Alpha Fraternity held one of their famous Coffeehouses in the cafeteria from 10:00 to 1:00. Friday the student body stepped out for the semi-formal Homecoming Dance in Lumberton at the National Guard Armory. Music was provided by the band "Threshold." The final day of events started with a parade at 11:00 and a basketball game that evening against Pfeiffer College. The Pembroke Braves won the game 43-41 and Rita Womack was crowned Homecoming Queen at halftime. Darlene Brewington was first runner-up, followed by LeAnne Bass, Pat Maynor, and Kathryn Gooden. After the game, "Disco Pat" led the celebration in the student center until 2:00. All in all the homecoming week was electrifying for both the commuter and resident populations.

Head Coach Mike Schaeffer looks on intensely

The 1981 Braves provided fans with plenty of excitement as 9 out of 16 games were tied or decided by one goal. A string defense was the key as the soccer team posted a 5-9-2 record, best in the past eight years. The Braves shut out a record five opponents and held six other opponents to one goal each. The future looks bright for Pembroke soccer as only one starter and two other players graduate.

The 1981 cross country season was another year of excitement and happiness for the Braves. Led by two-time All American David Lewis the Braves captured their tenth PSU Invitational title, their twelfth straight NAIA District 26 Championship and finished sixth in the State. Adding to an already exciting season, the Braves hosted the NCAA Division II Southeast Regional Championships, for both men and women. In the men's championship, the Braves provided a strong second place finish, thereby qualifying to go on to the Nationals. Once again the hard work, sacrifice, pride, and dedication of each team member provided another great year for the cross country team.

LADY BRAVES VOLLEYBALL '81

Head Coach Tommy Thompson

The 1981 PSU Volleyball team could be summed up in one word — young. With nine freshmen, this year's team went through a learning process and gained valuable experience. However, there is much potential for the future. The key will be how quickly the inexperienced players mature. Being the hard workers that they are, they could be a conference surprise as soon as next season.

Coach Webb, Julie Riffen, LeAnne Bass, Judy McLean, Kay Carter, Julie Hall, Debra Caviness, Byrd Britt

The Lady Braves posted a 3-2 overall mark and 2-1 in the conference during their fall season. Playing a split season makes it very difficult for them to continue their excellence during the spring, but hard work and determination will help them endure the difficulties with a split year. Led by junior Byrd Britt, the Lady Braves are on their way to a fine year.

TKE Charter Revoked By Chancellor Givens

By LORI ROBERTS

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, better known as TKE'S, recently had their charter revoked by the administration for an indefinite period of time.

There are two main incidents that led up to the suspension of their charter. At the beginning of the school year, the TKE's had a party. The administration felt they did not go through the proper procedures necessary for any fraternity to hold an event. One TKE stated that they did not do this because classes had not yet begun and they felt no need to get "permission". However, they were in fault, and put on probation.

The second and most recent incident occurred at a TKE party late one Friday night. One eyewitness TKE told the story this way: "There was a party disturbance; so a TKE brother, Mike Goff, called the police. Two policemen came to the house, they saw Mike Goff going to the house next door with a shotgun. They told him to put it away. Once they made sure it was away, and everything was under control they left. For some unknown reason, that still remains a mystery to the TKE's, the police returned; accompanied by a sheriff. Mike Goff tried to explain to one of the officers that he had called earlier, and everything was fine. The policemen thought he was provoking him, and trouble started. Fights broke out in the house.

During the confusion, a non-member TKE, Billy Evans, put his hand through a window. Both Mike Goff and Billy Evans were arrested."

After several meetings Monday, the administration decided and notified the TKE's by a letter from PSU Chancellor Paul B. Givens, that their charter had been "revoked for an indefinite time period."

The TKE's, by their own decision, moved out of their house and back on campus.

TKE Chris Oswald stated that he was "dissappointed in the way the administration handled it," and that they made an "overnight decision."

Dr. James B. Chavis, Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, replied that not one member of the TKE fraternity attempted to see him or explain the situation. He feels that "President Brian Spivey worked hard for the TKE's, and he was a good president," and that the "membership did not support him the way they led him to believe they would."

This article was printed in the Pine Needle on Oct. 2, 1981.

The TKE'S have packed up and moved on ..... or have they?

The TKE'S are gone forever ..... or are they?

AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES

This year sixteen students from Pembroke State University will be listed in the national publication entitled Who's Who Among students in American Colleges and Universities. After a campus-wide call for nominations, the final selections were made by the Student Affairs Subcommittee on Student Life. This committee was composed of five faculty members and five students. The nominations were then sent to an Alabama firm and the selected students received a certificate. Selection is especially rewarding because many businessmen use the "Who's Who" book as a reference for future employees.

Clearly the purpose of soap operas is never to end, a purpose which can be also viewed in our own lives, for we continue to live within the memories of our families, friends, and acquaintances. Therefore, in order to cherish these memories and to preserve them in their most possible freshness, the yearbook staff has strived to make the 1982 Indianhead the most memorable memento of the 1981-1982 academic year.

Like soap operas, life is a time which we long to view and review, a time with a never ending present where each day looks like our yesterdays or our tomorrows. As the world turns, the soap operas and life unfold their secrets to us day after day, allowing us to expect the unexpected along with the anticipated. As the faculty, staff, and students of P.S.U., many times it seems as if we are at our ends but actually we are just at the beginning of another world of soap operas.

As members of the PSU community, we can be proud of our school and its part in developing the scripts for the continuing stories of our own individual soap operas. In the years to come, as our soap operas continue, each of us can look back at the Braves' spirit and say, "I want that kind of experience for all my children."

A perfect ending to a perfect year. Much hard work and dedication has gone into putting together the 1982 Indianhead. Without the help and support of many this dream come true could not have been possible. I would like to thank Fran Miller and Sue Betty Locklear for putting up with "TROUBLE" this year — both were a major asset to the staff and me.

I would also like to thank Mrs. Dennis Sigmon for playing secretary to the Indianhead staff during picture taking time and also to Gary Spitler and Gene Warren's Office and other cooperative members of the University for their contributions.

Without the extra help and support from Sharon Oxendine, Debbie Hughes, Sherry Threlkeld, Mike Kydd, Marie Miller, and Janet Beard I could not have made it through the year. I also thank my mother and sister, Vickie, for putting up with me; their support was never ending.

And a big thanks and sincere gratification goes to Dr. Dennis Sigmon, my advisor, for his many hours of help and advice. Thanks and love to all.
